

McGILL INVADES MAC CAMPUS THIS WEEKEND

A football game, a Bar-B-Q dinner, a sing song, a movie, and dance will be featured at the Macdonald Picnic on Saturday, October 15. Busses will leave Roddick Gates at 1 pm and return at midnight.

The price per person for the entire day is $2, or $1.25 without transportation. Tickets will be sold at the Union from noon to 2 pm tomorrow and Friday.

Students of Macdonald are at work preparing for the annual invasion of their campus by McGill. This is one date that freshmen and upperclassmen alike should attend. According to the gourmet who went on the picnic last year, "the meal alone is worth more than the cost of the entire outing."

MARATHON SWIM

For further news concerning the McGill Daily Beaver Lake Marathon Swim contestants and spectators are asked to follow the Daily. Further news will be forthcoming soon.

Pre Meds Announce Session's Program

The Pre-Med Society is offering a series of talks by people in the medical profession or fields closely allied to it. The aim of these talks is to give a "panoramic view" of the medical profession to those Arts and Science students who are planning medicine as a career, or who are not quite sure and would like to find out more about it.

The executive is planning to have a Psychiatrist, Dentist, Nurse, Medical Director, Pharmacist, and Physiotherapist participate in this series.

Further plans for the year include panel discussions with prominent Montreal physicians, a regular meeting every two weeks at which times movies will be shown, first aid courses, hospital tours, and volunteer hospital help.

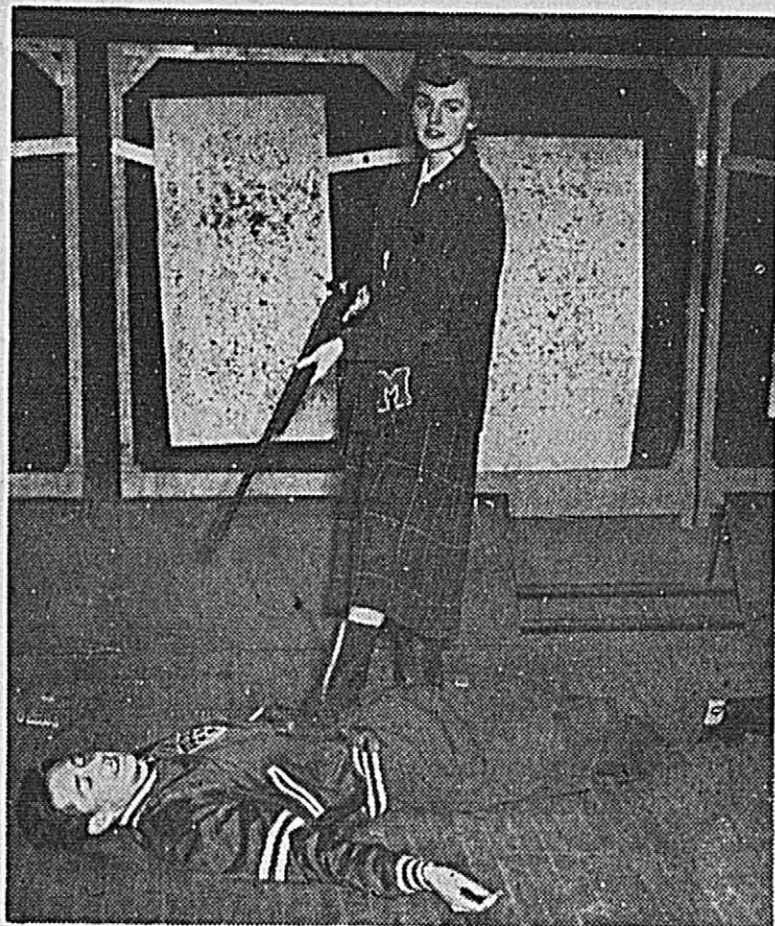

In previous years, it was found that the most enthusiastic members were 1st and 2nd year students. Activities of the society for this coming year have been outlined with the aim in mind of attracting the juniors and seniors of Arts and Science. A booth will be set up tonight in the Union where those interested can register.

ATTENTION ALL DAILY NEWS DESK STAFF

NFCUS Attracts World Students

— (CUP) — Edmonton, Alta — Delegates from twenty universities across Canada together with visitors from several foreign countries converged on the University of Alberta campus Monday morning to open the Nineteenth Annual Conference of NFCUS. Observers at the meeting came from Germany, the U.S., Pakistan, and Czechoslovakia. Chairman of the meeting was NFCUS President Doug Burns. Jiri Pelikan of Czechoslovakia was observer for the International Union of Students, composed of Iron Curtain country students. Student bodies highlighted the opening session with a speech in which he stated ways of improving international understanding on the student level. Foremost was the willingness of IUS to organize trips behind the Iron Curtain for Canadian University students and also to form an International Culture Group to tour Canada. This would mean return visits to Canada by university students from behind the Iron Curtain.

Universities recognized at the meeting were St. Patricks College, Ottawa; Calgary Branch of the University of Alberta, and University of Kings College. The plenary session continued with the setting up of three committees to handle conference business. They included the National Affairs Commission chaired by Peter Martin from the University of Toronto; International Affairs Commission chaired by Paul Wonnacott of Western University Graduate; and the Administration and Finance Commission chaired by Harry Keenan of St. Xaviers.

Union Features Activities Nite

Over 45 clubs and societies will attempt to ensnare Freshmen and Upperclassmen into their groups tonight — Activities Nite. Doors of the Union will open at 8 pm to allow students to view activities ranging from rockclimbing to dancing and to partake of another stag dance.

Each club and society will occupy a booth where they will display literature and other paraphernalia relevant to their particular activity. Students wishing information on the purpose and functions of any club will be able to converse directly with members of the club's executive who will be on hand.

Representatives of the National, Religious, athletic, cultural and all other clubs on campus will be ready to sign up any student interested in joining their group.

Some of the bigger organizations will attempt more extragant displays. MOC (McGill Outing Club) will show movies on skiing and rockclimbing. Following this they will give a demonstration of rockclimbing, using the side of the Union as the mountain.

Aspirants to a career in show business will do well to see members of the Red and White Revue cast at work at 8:30 pm in the Ballroom. For those who are not interested in dancing, singing or acting, the Red and White Revue offers positions on their executive committee.

Following the Red and White contribution, an exhibition of professional dancing may be viewed, again in the Ballroom. This is in conjunction with the Union Dance lessons being offered students at relatively low rates.

Dancing to records will begin at 10 pm. Free cokes will be passed around during the whole evening.

"Activities Nite is the only time that the campus clubs come to you, the students," stated the chairman of the Activities Nite, "We thus advise you to come down to the Union tonight, look over the clubs and join any you are interested in. Remember that if you wish to join later on in the year, the effort will have to be made by you; the clubs will not be in the Union waiting for you".

Union To Stage Modern Dance

A demonstration of modern dancing will be put on at 8:30 p.m., at the Union. The Latin American dance specialists, Wilhelmina Murray and Michael Martin, will perform.

These dancers, formerly instructors at Arthur Murray's, will be teaching at the dance classes for students this year. This is a chance for all to see the expertness of their instructors.

Activities Night

All clubs intending to erect booths on Activities Night are required to have their displays ready by 2 p.m. on Wednesday.

Amateur Music Group Formed

A group of Amateur musicians consisting of about 20 students formed a music club orchestra last Thursday in the Union. They will play anything from violins and cellos to trumpets and drums.

The first rehearsal will be held on Thursday, Oct. 13 at 8 pm in the Walter Stewart Room of the Union. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

HILLEL DEBATES JEWISH PROBLEM

Hillel foundation will hold its opening debate today at 1:00 p.m., in room W20 of the Arts building. Four McGill law students will debate the topic: Resolved that the Jewish people can and should forgive its enemies.

Bram Eisenstat and Yoine Goldstein will defend the resolution, Jerry Charness and Morris Chalkelson will take the negative.

Arthur Garmaise Q.C., winner of the Papineau cup and a "golden A" debater will judge the debate.

BROTT LEADS MUSIC GROUP

Orchestral and Chamber Music classes under the direction of Alexander Brott are to begin within a fortnight. Auditions will be held on Thursday evening, October 13th, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., at McGill Conservatorium. Candidates wishing to participate should apply to the Secretary, McGill Conservatorium, 3450 Drummond Street.

NEW LAW SEC REP

Dan Lazare

Danny Lazare is the new Law Representative to the SEC for this year, elected by acclamation. Lazare was active in debating circles both in Inter-Faculty contests and in the Inter-Collegiate field.

He is presently in third year.

THE PARKING DILEMMA

The problem of issuing campus parking permits has become a headache to the S.E.C.

This was inevitable. There are approximately 100 permits available and thrice that number of applications are received each year. Unfortunately, students have learned that the odds that they as individuals will receive a permit are slim, and in order to increase their chances they tend to overestimate their need for one.

Necessarily, the permits are issued according to arbitrary rules set down by a selection committee of the SEC. There are two important considerations. First is the applicant's health; and, second, the distance that he must travel in order to reach the University. There are other points which may be debated (number of passengers, etc.), but these are definitely subordinate in importance.

It is impossible, because of the very nature of the problem, to hope that all decisions made are fair. There is little chance of checking the authenticity of the various reasons given on the application forms, and consequently the sincerity with which they are presented must be taken into consideration. It is an extremely simple matter to procure a voucher from various sources asserting their need for the applicant's professional services, and this is a popular practice. Needless to say an application falling into this category is viewed with grave suspicion.

Other, less convincing, reasons given include flat feet, lack of adequate parking facilities near their downtown home, and the financial strain experienced through parking tickets. These are perhaps entered in good faith, but cannot be considered too seriously in view of other needs.

The selection committee realizes the shortcomings of its system. Unfortunately it is the only feasible one to date. It will work perfectly only when each student cooperates fully. We are not so naive as to ask this. Our only hope is that students will realize the problems confronting the committee and consider twice before launching their vehement protests to the SEC offices and causing added aggravation.

From The Ivory Tower

A Call For Literary Creativity

Is McGill plagued by literary impotency? Certainly this oft leveled charge warrants some consideration.

The art of literary creativity, like most arts, is very difficult to analyze. It suffices to say this process should not be regarded as synonymous with a mystic intellectualism as so many seem to feel. It seems to us that creative writing at McGill has been too restricted, both by the narrow scope within which the majority of campus writers have insisted on moving, and by the paucity and aloofness of the outlets. There is little wonder that most students maintain a hostile indifference to the whole subject.

The chief literary outlet at McGill is Forge, with the possible exception of the Fig Leaf and the Feature pages of the Daily. Now to have such a magazine presupposes that the campus has something to write, has something to contribute. The editors of Forge can only print the best of what they receive, no matter how low the calibre. This year's editor might be well advised to enter on a resolute campaign to humanize Forge and bring it down to earth. The chief problem, however, still remains one of finding contributors who have something to say and say it well.

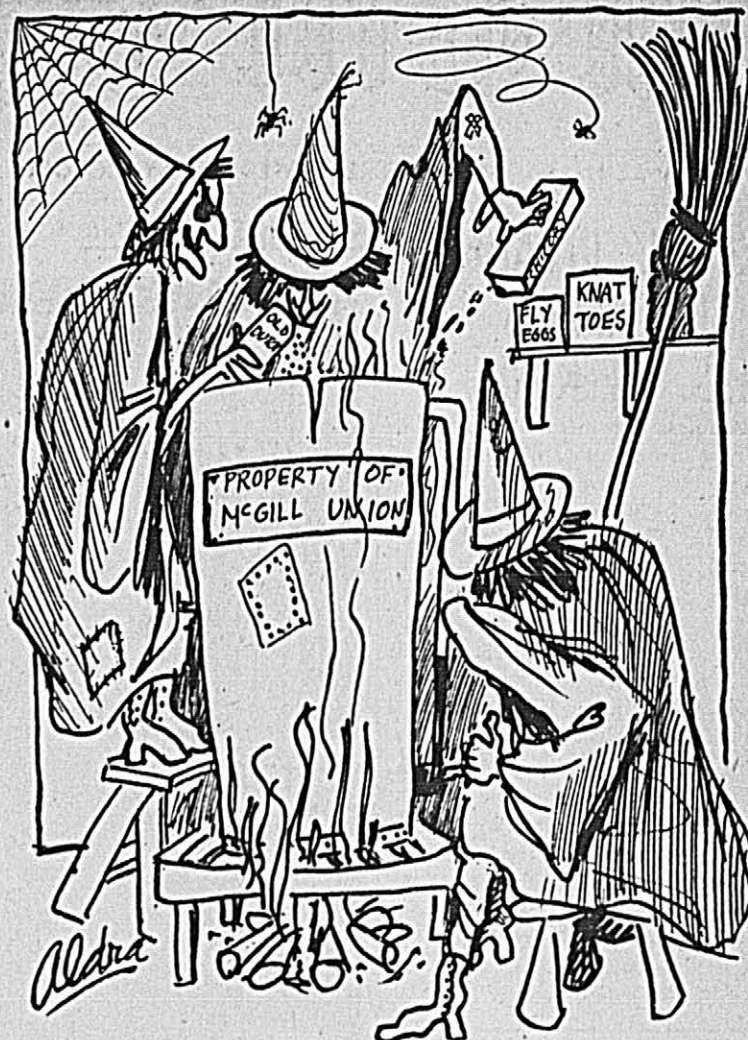

George Bernard Shaw once said the only three subjects worthy of discussion among intelligent men were politics, religion, and sex. On our stately campus, the only topic to stimulate much fervor is the latter and even this fascinating subject is discussed with undue furtiveness. The few remaining Champions of the Unacceptable at McGill have sunk into the dank pools of absolute normalcy and tolerance.

And why do we not print more articles dealing with science? The world of science affords amazing literary possibilities, but is all too often neglected. Pure science is a system of thought representing man's reaction to the natural operations going on in the World about us. Yet this reaction is a topic which at McGill has been largely underestimated as to its application for the purpose of creative writing. The entire University would be considerably enriched if the men and women of science at McGill (not to be confused with the faculty) would write more about the World and the aspects of it that they understand the best. The footsteps of such as Carlyle, Thomas Huxley, DuNouy, Rachel Larson, and others could well be followed to the benefit of all. We feel certain that Forge and counterparts would be greatly increased in stature by focusing more attention on this aspect of creative writing.

The medium for students and faculty members who feel that they have something to say is there. This year Forge is continuing with two issues a year, a most laudable move, in an attempt to further the literary creativeness at McGill. It is our sincere hope that the results justify the effort, but it is difficult to print that which remains unwritten.

Letters to the Editor

Disgusted!

I was most dissatisfied, even disgusted, to see the snide comment with which you prefaced your article on National Cat Week. A modern college newspaper which preaches, though it may not practice, tolerance ought to be more careful in choosing what it has to say about reputable organizations who, acting from the highest of motives, are attempting to perform a valuable service.

No one dare deny that these people are worthy of our attention. One cannot help but feel that you, by your inconsiderate handling of their material have done them a disservice and a hurt from which they may have difficulty in recovering.

Again one feels one should be able to look to you to set a better example in this Godless society.

INDIANS TANGLE WITH EASTWARDS TONIGHT

The McGill Indians will be a much improved club tonight as they meet the high flying Eastward '55ers in an exhibition game at eight o'clock at Morgan Park. The Indians have been toiling all week at Molson's Stadium hoping to make up for their dismal showing last Thursday night against Verdun.

Doug McGregor, a puppet version of Sam Etcheverry, will again play the quarterback spot. McGregor, a native Montrealeur, did his throwing the last three years at Sudbury High. He is also an excellent booter and appears to be the hottest prospect on Shorty Fairhead's squad.

Ace halfback Stu Colt, who missed Thursday's game, also looms as a likely starter tonight and a threat to the '55ers defense.

Meanwhile, Red Nower's Eastward troupe are also well prepared for the game. They will be powered by quarterback Denny Jones and his strong right arm. His backfield mates will be Norm Fabes and Archie Attuso while much of his line protection will be supplied by Fred Rousseau.

The Indians have a busy week ahead. Saturday they travel to Lennoxville to meet Bishop's University and next Wednesday they entertain South Shore Combines at the McGill piggery. The game against Ottawa, scheduled for Oct. 22, has been cancelled.

CUTTHROAT CLUB TO START THURSDAY

The fencing club will have its official opening on Thursday night, October 13, at 7:30 in the Turner-Bone room of the Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium. The club will start its activities with an opening night guaranteed to promote interest and satisfy all tastes.

The programme will consist of an exhibition by the senior members of the club, a movie, as well as some refreshments, and music. And all at no cost to you.

The fencing club realizes that in the past mistakes have been made and is putting all its energy into improving the system of training used. Special attention will be paid to all those who wish the planning of a series of visits to join our group. This includes from local clubs: Sir George Williams, Palestre National, Westmount, Y.M.C.A. and others.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

RIFLE CLUB

The Women's Rifle Club meets every Thursday evening, 7:30 to 10:00, for practise shooting. On Wednesday, 5:00 to 7:30, and Friday, 7:30 to 10:00, there are joint meetings with the Men's Club. If there are enough girls interested, we will be able to enter a team in the Provincial competitions. No previous experience is necessary, so come this week to the Rifle Range in the Currie Gym, and have some fun and relaxation while learning to shoot.

WATER SHOW

Attention staff and routine composers. Please attend this meeting to be held on Thursday, Oct. 13, at 5:00 o'clock, in the Women's Lounge at R.V.C.

A reminder to routine directors — a practise is to be held on Thursday, October 13, at 7:30.

ARCHERY

The Outdoor Silver Arrow Tournament is now under way, with the girls shooting rounds on Tuesday and Wednesday. The scores for each girl will be added up and the four highest scorers will represent McGill at the Intercollegiate meet at O.A.C.

BOXING

Boxing practices start again this coming Thursday night, at the Currie gym. Coach Burt Light would like to see the following boys turn out: — M. Kennedy, Denny Repole, Pierre Raymond, Ozzie Downs, Eric Lindsay and Andrew Brien. Also Ricky Adrian and Buster Brown of football fame. Many of the boys are hold-overs from last year's championship team.

Bob Japp has been elected team manager, John Passet captain, and Joe Puddicombe, Vice-captain.

U of M Favoured In Tennis Championship

The McGill tennis team begins play today in the Intercollegiate Championships at Queens, Varsity and the University of Montreal. "La Universite" is the odds-on favourite to win the championship.

The McGill team is based on returning veterans Pat Northy and Mike Carpenter. These two will be in number one and two single spots respectively. Both performed well last year, figuring in our few wins over the power-packed Universite squad. They will also form the top doubles team and their coordination and steadiness should enable them to do quite well in their matches.

Northy and Carpenter will be aided by three newcomers, Dan Lazare, Lloyd Powell, and Brook Gill. The latter two are expected to form the second doubles team.

McGill hopes received a severe blow when it announced that Smith Chapman, star of last year's team and one of Canada's top junior players, will be unable to play. Chapman won two of his three singles matches, losing only to Raymond Page of the U of M. in a 6-4, 7-5 struggle.

Last year's champion Montreal University team, sparked by Page, is expected to repeat. Varsity's team, however, is much improved, and has hopes of regaining the title it last held in 1954. Queens did not enter last year and is an unknown quantity.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

TOURNAMENTS

In 18 Easy Lessons

How To Flunk

CUP FEATURE

1. Enter the course as late as possible. By changing your curriculum after school starts, you should be able to avoid classes until the second or third week.
2. Do not bother with a text book.
3. Put your social life ahead of everything else. Interesting conversation should be able to drown out the noise of the lecture.
4. Observe how seedy most professors look and treat them accordingly.
5. Make yourself comfortable when you study. If possible draw up an easy chair by a window.
6. Have a few friends handy during the study periods, so that you can chat when bored.
7. If you must study, try to lump it all together and get it over with. The most suitable time would be the last week of school.
8. Keep the study table interesting. Place photographs, magazines, goldfish bowls, games and other recreational devices all around you while studying.

9. Ignore dictionaries. You could never learn all the words in one anyway.
10. Never interrupt your reading by checking on what you have learned.
11. Avoid bothering with notebooks. If you plan to use one, so that you can draw pictures of airplanes during the lecture, try to follow the simple arrangement of keeping all the notes for a given day on the same sheet of paper.
12. Remind yourself frequently how dull the course is.
13. Review only the night before examinations, and confine your efforts to trying to guess what the teacher will ask.
14. Stay up all night before important exams. You can spend the first half of the evening discussing your determination to cram and the latter half drinking coffee.

15. Write your exams rapidly. Glance at the question and then put down your first impression.

16. Do not let academic work get mixed up with your daily life.

17. When in the lab work hurriedly. Do not waste time worrying about what is going on.

18. Remember that success in life is your main aim and never let extraneous matters such as grades interfere with this objective.

UNIVERSITY MEDICAL EXAMINATIONS

The University requires all students (whether regular, limited or partial students, and whether undergraduate or graduate students) to present themselves for examination by the University Health Service as follows:-

- (i) In each academic year during their membership of the University, students must present themselves, before November 1st, for a chest x-ray examination. Examinations are given by appointment with the Health Service. Students who fail to comply with this requirement by November 1st, in any academic year, will be subject to a fine of five dollars; and students who fail to comply with it by November 15th will be suspended from membership of the University.
- (ii) In his, or her, first year, as a member of any Faculty, every student must present himself, or herself, for general clinical examination and routine laboratory tests. Examinations are given by appointment with the Health Service. Students who fail to comply with this requirement by January 1st in any academic year will be subject to a fine of five dollars, and students who fail to comply by January 14th will be suspended from membership of the University. Students should note that, in cases in which they have met this requirement in one Faculty and have subsequently entered another Faculty, they must present themselves for re-examination as members of the Faculty to which they have passed.

Participation in athletics is conditional upon the results of these examinations.

Provision is made, during the session, for the re-examination of any student who may seem to require it.

Arts & Crafts Exhibits Wares

Students are once more urged to think of exhibiting in the annual Arts and Crafts Exhibition.

The exhibition, which is designed to give staff, students, and university employees a chance to display their creative work, will be the tenth of its kind on the campus.

A complete cross-section of McGill's creative talent should be represented at the exhibition, which is to be held in the Walter Stewart room of the McGill Union from December 12th to 17th. Entries will be accepted the week before the exhibition and receiving dates will be announced later.

Among the various exhibits will be printing, drawing, photography, handicrafts, ceramics, sculpture, and woodwork. It would be appreciated if the paintings and drawings were mounted.
